II. Family Engagement Minutes

III. Call the audience

DISCUSSION ITEMS	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Planning and Execution of Family Engagement Report. • Planning and implementing Family Engagement survey and multicultural curriculum night. • School activities and community building strategies • Family Engagement and curriculum strategies in Education. • Discussion and planning for Family Curriculum Night • Planning the implementation of a Parent Survey
Discussion Notes: Parent /Teacher conference numbers Parent /Teacher tracking and reporting: Two reports have already been built for August and September (with the assistance of Arlene Padilla)

Some of the items included in these reports are the meeting with the refugee families in the district. (subtopics: open house, translators, and booster events)
Regarding the family survey last year, we had limited responses from parents.
Question for Mrs. Brunenkant: How are those family surveys sent?
Brunenkant: One survey has been sent out, but it is up to the sites to create additional engagement and market it a bit better. We need to utilize tools like the QR codes, and we can physically pass those out during dismissal, so we know parents are receiving them. The QR code should be easily accessible.
Goswami: The teachers will need to participate in the process as well. Based on the survey responses, we can create some critical questions for a focus group.

IV. Discussion Notes continued

Discussion Notes:	The focus group will need to be physically hosted and facilitated by someone who is not affiliated with Bloom. Mrs. Bercant hosted breakfast for Bloom last year and she will be the person hosting and facilitating the focus group this year. The first curriculum night will need to take place before December 20th. Ms. Goswami has been in contact with Junko Sakoi who is one of the coordinators of the multicultural education center of TUSD. Dr. Sakoi has agreed to support us with our plans for our first curriculum night. The next meeting for the curriculum planning night will happen soon so that we can put together the basic framework and present to the staff during one of the Wednesday PDs. Bloom Boosters is aware that we will implement curriculum nights this year and they have agreed to provide some support. There are barriers parents face when considering the attendance of such events. As such we will do our best to work around them and implement a fun and engaging curriculum night. Brunenkant: Although things have been challenging, we should be very proactive in reaching out to parents and establishing lines of contact to ensure they are well informed on what is going on in Bloom. Meeting adjourned by Gopa Goswami at 4:00 pm.
